General Report Comments: I saw a very thin black male dog with a bad skin problem. The owner said that they do feed the dog but he does not want to eat dog food only house food. He then goes into other people yard and that is where he gets the skin problem from eating fish bones. I told her that the dog has a skin problem that must be treated. She said to me they will rather surrender the dog to the SPCA as they do not want to take it to a vet.
