Comments:	I went to to Asla and drove around and went to the back , there was a stable with no houses inside and there was no one living there no house, I tried to ask few people about if they could have seen an injured house on the leg ridden. Unfortunately no one did see the injured horse, I then contacted the complainant to notify her that there are no houses in the stable, she then replied that she will alert the spca again should she see the house again.
