General Report Comments: At the property, I was allowed access to enter the yard and was told that the dog was kept in the backyard. I went to go check on the dog and found him tied with a knitted rope and a formal tie fixed to window bars. I untied the dog and loaded him into my van and came for a discussion with the ex-wife of the owner. She explained their situation to me saying that the house had been sold as she and her ex-husband had divorced years ago. She revealed to me that there was a drug problem also in the house and the ex-husband(who was out on errands) was doing odd jobs and their situation was not ideal. I explained to them that the environment was not suitable and would be better if the was at SPCA awaiting a better home. They said that they were not willing to let the dog go and they are moving at the end of the year. While I was talking to the son and the wife, the owner came back. Mr Rojin Mariemuthoo spoke to me about their situation and I could clearly see that there no improvements were going to be made should I leave the dog at that place. I told them that I'll be impounding the dog for a 7 day period to sort their lives out and they were willing to comply we would consider releasing the dog back. Failure to do so will be regarded as forfeiting the dog. A written warning was issued to them
