General Report Comments: I met Ms Mukuna at the property, who I did assure me that the dog was fine she saw through the gate. I still insisted on seeing the dog myself. "Chicco" appeared to have fully recovered and the owner was quoted as saying that it was just a sprained ankle that the dog had were medicating it by someone from the Brumalake Vet but didn't want to disclose their name. I advised against making use of unqualified persons to treat the dogs even if they are affordable as they may worsen their illness or even cause them to die. I said animal shelter such as ours are there for less affording pet owners. The dog was showing signs of high levels of testosterone by behaving out of character, recklessly biting on objects, mounting people's leg and I offered to have the dog neutered but they said they wanted to speak to the husband but they will get back to me soon. I educated them about the benefits of sterilizing their dog and basics of putting the dogs to a proper routine. The dog was found recovered. Matter concluded for now
