General Report Comments: When I arrived at the San Marco flat, I met the caretaker, Mr Nicholas who escorted me to the owner in question, Mr Bukhosi Ncube who owns an 8-month-old, dark brindle, neutered male, Staffordshire Bull Terrier, named "Hulk". "Hulk" was found staying in the flat roaming freely. Potable water was provided for him and he sleeps with the owner in bed.

He is also fed canned dog food that they get from the local Shoprite. He gets walked every afternoon by his brother in the neighbourhood. He said the dog got bitten by dogs from the township, which is why he had to bring the dog to the flat. Hulk's wounds appeared to have healed during my inspection. He also admitted having chained the dog once on the balcony when he had guests in his flat which I have warned him against.

I tried convincing him to surrender the dog to the SPCA but he vehemently refused saying he can still call me after considering this decision as he was still working on an alternative place in the next 4 days. I'll be checking up on him next week to find out his plan.

Mr Bukhosi Ncube appeared to be very fond of the dog there were not violations of the Animals Protection Act 71 of 1962 that constitutes for the immediately removal of the dog.
