General Report Comments: The hooves were finally trimmed by a company called Highlands Farriers. A hoof-trimming routine of at least every 6 weeks was encouraged. More enrichment features were advised with exercising activities to counter excess hoof growth, since there appears to be a lack of activity for the horses. The leaking pipe was repaired, and there were no more muddy puddles. I still requested the vet report on the horse named "Bert" for the vet's opinion, but I was told that the vet was not available, but they will request records from the veterinary department and send them to me. All other horses appeared to be in acceptable condition, provided with basic needs. Awaiting the report, and routine inspections will be conducted
