CHECKLISTS

General Report Comments: I began my investigation by meeting with the complainant to assess her concerns. She granted me access at the security checkpoint entrance of the Abbington complex , and I proceeded to her unit. She met me in the parking lot and took me to the dam through her house. I found the dam area enclosed with steel-rod bars and a locked gate. The complainant alerted me that the dam is a restricted area and that it would need permission from the estate/facility manager to enter and closely examine the dam. However, we briefly surveyed the dam along the borders of the dam where I could not see the pond life listed by the complainant, except for a couple of Blacksmith plovers foraging on the shores of the dam, on that day. She informed me that the dam runs on a borehole water keeping the water shallow. Water levels only rise in rainy days, and that's when pond life comes alive. Only bulrushes, sedges and other water weeds were sprouting. I also asked about other vertebrates, such as fish, but she assured me there are no fish in the dam. I told her that I will be investigating the matter further based on all the information she has given us so far, and find out development plans from the property managers of the complex and I promised to copy her.
