General Report Comments: The dogs were free roaming the yard when I arrived; however, the owners put the two adult dogs away in a camp whilst I was in the yard. The property is large and spacious for the amount of dogs being kept in the yard. Only fresh piles of faeces were seen, but otherwise the yard was neatly mowed and clean. In the back yard the owners are in the process of building large outdoor camps for the breeding dogs. The foundation poles and fence have been erected, only the roofs are still to be installed. I was informed that they want to construct the camps now because they have purchased new breeding pairs and by having the camps they can control which dogs breed with which. The three puppies have all been vaccinated by the owners themselves but not microchipped yet. I was informed that they want to register the puppies with KUSA as well as do genetic testing before they start breeding with them.

The female adult is currently pregnant with her third litter. The owners informed me that they skip every second heat and they wish to retire the dog at age 6. When the dog gives birth, she has a birthing crate inside the house where she and the pups are constantly monitored for 8 - 10 weeks. The puppies are only sold after 8 weeks of age and after they have received their first vaccinations and deworming.
