Comments:	A follow-up visit was conducted to ensure compliance. The dogs remain on their running chains; however, a few issues were noted regarding how they were secured. These concerns were addressed with the owner, Tumi, and recommendations for alternative securing methods were provided. Suggestions included the use of long droppers for stronger dogs, replacing wire with cable, and installing quality swivels to ensure safety and prevent injury. During the follow-up, only two chickens were observed, and their conditions remain satisfactory. The lady who operates the shop from the house sells the chickens. Regarding the puppies, Mommy currently has only one remaining, as the others have been given to friends and family.
