Subject: Conditions of where the animals are kept

Dear Sir/Madame,

I appreciate your idea of animals conservatory (the world of Birds), however I write to express my concern with the conditions some (most) of the animals are kept.

I was particularly shocked to see one (single) white stork, kept in a cage where's no place to even try to fly. Storks are particularly important for the Polish culture, and it's quite key for them not to be kept in cages etc.

Is there anything that can explain keeping the bird in such conditions. Or any way the conditions in your conservatory can be supported/imporved.

I'd be grateful for your answer.

Best regards/
Z serdecznym pozdrowieniem,
Eliza Kania
