Comments:	I called the owner and she has not yet taken the dog in for the xray and blood tests. I told her she must then rather surrender the dog over to the spca. She said she doesnt want to but will do it because I say the dog is suffering. However she is not home and no one will be for the next two days. I will call her to try and organise for someone to be at the proprty to have the dog signed over to the spca.
