VETERINARY OPINION:

Based on the above findings, it is my professional opinion that:

Multiple small wounds and scars were observed over the face and neck, in various stages of healing. In my professional opinion, the size, distribution and location of these wounds are consistent with injuries typically sustained during dog-on-dog attacks or altercations.

The duration of the suffering is assessed as chronic, with the prognosis being viewed as good.

The recommended course of action is ongoing tick and flea control.

7.

CONCLUSION:

Based on the clinical examinations and findings documented above, it is my professional veterinary opinion that Max presented with multiple scars and wounds that are consistent with repeated physical altercations with other dogs.

The size, shape, distribution and anatomical locations of the injuries observed on both dogs are characteristic of dog-on-dog aggression rather than accidental or environmental causes.

The presence of wounds and scars in various stages of healing indicates that these altercations did not occur as a single isolated incident but rather over a prolonged period of time, supporting a conclusion of chronic exposure to aggressive encounters.

In my professional opinion, the injuries sustained by this dog would have caused pain, distress and discomfort, and the failure to prevent repeated altercations constitutes unnecessary suffering. Such suffering could reasonably have been avoided through appropriate management, supervision and intervention.

While Max does currently have a good prognosis with appropriate veterinary care, parasite control and, where indicated, behavioural intervention, the findings raise significant animal welfare concerns regarding their prior management and environment.

I know and understand the content of this declaration.

I have no objection to taking the prescribed oath.

I consider the prescribed oath to be binding on my conscience.
