Subject: Eddie , proof of veterinary care at AACL Epping

To whom it may concern. Pls find attached proof of veterinary care from day 1 of Eddie having an abscess . Secondly I never asked for donations on my post , I was asked by a follower to add Diesel's Rescue bank details so that she could donate. Lastly I self fund 99% of Diesel's Rescue . And even if i do ask for donations, the public cant expect me to self fund 100% . So angry about these false accusations and a total waste of Spca time when u could be attending to serious genuine cases.

Eddie's first visit to Aacl Epping was the 24th December. When I saw abcess / lump on the evening of the 23rd, already notified my clients that I wouldn't be seeing them the 24th as needed to take Eddie to the vet .

Then tried taking him back on the 29th + 30th . I couldn't get him into transport gents bakkie . Managed to get him into my Jeep on Friday 2nd . Pappa G the vet technician was more than happy with his progress. From day 1 he was on antibiotics and pain meds . Then changed antibiotics plus on prednisone. The abcess is 99% cleared. Eddie is due for his final visit on Friday 9th January. For medical / clinical report. Pls contact Aacl Epping.
Have a good day
