General Report Comments: Upon arrival, I called out and the owner came outside. I introduced myself and explained the concerns that had been reported. The owner advised that he was not at home at the time the dogs were fighting, but he believed that the complaint had been made by his neighbours.

At the front of the property, I observed an adult female Pit Bull-type dog. The dog had sustained significant injuries as a result of the fight. Given the severity of the injuries and the limited availability of veterinary services over the weekend, I recommended that the owner surrender the dog to the SPCA. The owner agreed and voluntarily surrendered the dog.

The owner further explained that two female offspring of the injured dog regularly attack their mother . I requested to inspect the remaining dogs and the areas where they are kept. However, the owner did not permit me to enter the house, stating that it had not been cleaned and that he did not want visitors inside. Instead, he offered to bring the dogs to the front of the property for inspection .

I subsequently observed the two female Pit Bull-type dogs. Both animals had injuries consistent with fighting, although their injuries were not as severe as those sustained by their mother.

I issued the owner with a warning requiring that both dogs receive adequate veterinary treatment within 48 hours. The warning further required that a veterinarian report be submitted to the SPCA within the given time frame as proof of treatment.

I was unable to conduct a full inspection of the rear section of the property or the dog housing areas, as access was not granted. It is hoped that the owner will provide full access during the follow-up inspection to enable the inspection of dogs' living conditions.
