What are you reporting?

Neglect

Further information

It has been observed that the dogs at the property in question are being neglected. The animals appear visibly thin and underweight, indicating a lack of adequate feeding and nutrition. They are consistently left unsupervised, with puppies frequently seen roaming the streets unattended, posing risks to both the animals' safety and public safety. Additionally, the dogs are regularly left outside at night without supervision. This has resulted in them attracting other animals in the area, causing ongoing disturbances including excessive barking and commotion. This nighttime activity has become a recurring issue, disrupting neighbours' sleep and negatively affecting the quality of life in the surrounding community. The combination of poor body condition, lack of supervision, and roaming behaviour raises concern for the animals' welfare and suggests a need for intervention.
