Further information

Good day, I notice that a dog near my house is kept in a small yard all day long. I can't see if he is ever taken for a walk, let alone allowed out of the small yard. He barks most of the time and I think it's because he can't see what is going on around him and more than likely stifled by not getting any attention from the family of the house. He knocks his food bowl almost everyday, and I'm not sure if that's because they taking long to feed him. The yard/his living space also seems to be cleaned/washed only on weekends.
