Hi,

Before proceeding with the surrender of your animal, please note that this is a permanent and legally binding decision. By surrendering your animal to the SPCA, you, as the legal owner, will be voluntarily transferring all ownership rights and responsibilities for the animal to the SPCA.

Once the surrender documentation has been signed and the animal has been collected or admitted into the SPCA's care, there is no cooling-off period. The surrender cannot be reversed, and the animal cannot be reclaimed by the previous owner at any stage thereafter.

Please also be aware that no updates, feedback, or information regarding the animal's status, placement, or future will be provided following the surrender. Under no circumstances will the animal be returned to the previous owner.

Please confirm that you understand the above, have had the opportunity to consider your decision carefully, and are happy to proceed
